Fuck the vote. It may be your last chance.

You might think it's silly to care which talking head takes the reins of this country come 2005, but I believe it matters. And, call me a dreamer, I believe my vote counts. And, call me paranoid, I believe John boring-ass Kerry is the only hope for this country.

My reasoning is simple. I believe our country should be respectful of individuals—individuals' thoughts, needs and dreams. I believe government should facilitate the ability of its citizens to think, fulfill their needs, and dream. And I believe the administration of George W. Bush—contrary to the “small government” promises of his Republican Party’s charter—is against this. From what I’ve seen the Bush administration prefers impersonal all-powerful corporate control, prefers to think of the economy in macro rather than micro terms, prefers citizens to fall in line like zombies.

Buy an assault rifle just in case, and in the meantime give away table dances to boys who register—at the bar!—to vote.

Americans are not of one mind. They are not of one faith. They are not of one tradition. Americans who feel they should have the right to tell other Americans how to live (i.e. not be gay, not have abortions, not be a Mexican immigrant laborer, etc.) are anti-democracy and anti-Republican. And they are voting for Bush. If you like thinking for yourself, you need to vote against him.

I believe if George W. and Co. are allowed another four years, they will perfect their restrictive Taliban-like social hegemony, will expand their corporate-sponsored oligarchy, will sacrifice the dreams of our nation’s billions on the altar of capitalistic greed.

Capitalism is good. Small government is good. Although the Republican Party champions both, they would have that the responsibility that comes with power is absent in capitalism, is anti-small government. That they have amassed so much power in the last four god-awful years is terrifying. I believe that another four will fuck us irrevocably.

Lately I’ve been listening to the liberal talk shows at work. Lately when they take a break from Bush-bashing they’ve been calling for a ban on assault weapons. Nobody needs semi-automatic rifles, they say. Unless—PATTI HEARST!—you need to take back the power your government has wrested from you.

But wait. Wrested from whom? Who is goddamn voting here? It better be you, strippers, rockers, whores. And you better be voting against Bush. You will be wearing the equivalent of a burkha after four more years of G.W. The prospect of gainful employment with respectable compensation and freedom to choose freedom could soon be dim memories.

It is up to you to Fuck the Vote, Exotic readers. Bush & Co.’s money is very persuasive. It’s already convinced many of us that our voices will never be heard. But don’t give in just yet. Buy an assault rifle just in case, and in the meantime give away table dances to boys who register—at the bar!—to vote. Democrat.

There really is no option this year, folks. The whole fucking world is holding its breath. Get Bush out before it’s too late. Here is an Election 2004 haiku for you:

*JUST DO IT.
Vote for Kerry.
And buy an assault rifle—
Before it's too late.*

P.S. Your voice counts at Exotic. Just look at Frank H.! He lobbied tirelessly for an Editor’s Page of naughty Viva pix. After months of waging an expensive campaign, he won! You can, too.

REPUBLICAN

THE HOTTEST BITCH

I'm here to rain on y'all's parade. I declare without equivocation that 99% of the armchair political analysts who bitch and piss and moan about corrupt, stupid politicians are themselves WAYYYY too fucked-up to EVER acquire, much less maintain, anything resembling political power. So, really, for cunt's sake, all you career alcoholics and junkies and sex addicts and welfare cheats who get on a soapbox and cry about your leaders, I'm here to tell you that no matter how moronic those leaders may be, they do a better job at it than you could ever hope to do, and deep down in your dysfunctional aortas, you KNOW I'm right. That's the TRUTH, bitches. That's why they're in power and you're not. Sorry to break it to you, but somebody had to do it.

When big-eared idiot George W. Bush wins again—this time by a landslide—it still gives you no excuse for your shambles of a personal life.

OK? Now I feel better.

This article was initially intended to be a contemplative rumination regarding a study released a decade or so ago concluding that Republicans have sex more frequently than Democrats.

I'm not making this up. I distinctly remember reading newspaper accounts and seeing TV-news broadcasts about the study. It shocked many people at the time, because Democrats, the insufferably self-righteous pustules that they are, have convinced themselves that they are the free-lovin', liberated, loosey-goosey party and that everyone in the G.O.P. is a sexually repressed psychopath who ejaculates at the sight of innocent blood being spilled and who walks around with a large black dildo secretly stuffed up their ass.

I don't identify with either major US political party, and I'm always bemused to see people who should have more discernment fall prey to the divide-and-conquer scheme which underlies the two-party system. No matter who you vote for, Republican or Democrat, it's going to be an insanely privileged millionaire who is paid even MORE money to decide in what manner they're going to STEAL forty percent of your wages. Republicans and Democrats are merely two puppet fists on the same predatory monster.

I'm not a Republican or a Democrat. I'm a felon who isn't allowed to vote, and I wouldn't vote even if they let me. I just enjoy fucking with people's heads and proving, more often than not, that the world is upside-down.

You don't think the world is upside-down? Consider these facts:

- More Germans died in World War II than Jews.
- Blacks commit racially motivated hate crimes more frequently than whites.
- Women commit acts of domestic assault more frequently than men.

These are all FACTS, bitches, and I can back them up with the relevant studies, while none of you will be able to prove me wrong, so don't even try. I savor these facts only because they prove that the truth is often the opposite of public perception. And it is for this reason—not because I like Republicans—that I'm inclined to believe that Republicans have sex more frequently than Democrats.

However, no amount of earnest googling was able to track down this study. So instead of the sober, frank, earnest political analysis for which I am widely renowned, I instead offer you a rundown of the hottest twats, past and present, who people the party of Honest Abe Lincoln.

Elephants have bigger dicks than donkeys. Case closed.

NAME: Condoleezza Rice

RELEVANCE: National Security Advisor under soon-to-be-reelected President George W. Bush

WHY SHE'S SEXY: She's the world's most powerful black woman this side of Oprah. She has a gap between her teeth. She has a cute button nose. She advises the president to kill people.

WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Disprove most of the stereotypes about white men except perhaps the fact that we smell like wet dogs.

NAME: Laura Bush

RELEVANCE: Faithful, loving wife of soon-to-be-reelected President George W. Bush

WHY SHE'S SEXY: Her eyes are full of fun 'n' mischief. She seems like she'd keep her cooch relatively clean. And according to a recently published book, she allegedly sold weed while in college.

WHAT I'D DO TO HER: The Dirty Sanchez while taking bong hits.

GASH

WIVES OF THE G.O.P.

NAME: Laurie Coleman
RELEVANCE: Wife of US Senator Norm Coleman (R-Minnesota)
WHY SHE'S SEXY: Her body language bespeaks someone who enjoys having a cock shoved so far up her that sperm shoots out of her mouth. She recently caused a scandal when the Washington Post printed pictures of her seductively clad in lingerie.
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Ram her from behind while she grunted "Yah!" with a Fargo accent.

NAME: Elizabeth Dole
RELEVANCE: Former US Transportation Secretary and one-time presidential contender. Wife of crotchety Viagra spokesman and former prez-candidate Bob Dole.
WHY SHE'S SEXY: Beautiful teeth. Nice eyebrows. Smart, assured, and powerful. Remains pretty even though she's now, like, 80 years old. I can instinctually tell that her vagina would have a pleasant aroma.
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Ask her for career advice while she blows me, insisting that she keep my cock in her mouth while she talks.

NAME: Betty Ford
RELEVANCE: Wife of klutzy ex-Prez Gerald Ford. Raging alcoholic who sobered up and started a clinic where stars go to sober up.
WHY SHE'S SEXY: I'm a sucker for the bouffant. Plus, I recently viewed a previously unaired Barbara Walters interview conducted while Betty was First Lady. The bitch was so snockered she could hardly stand up.
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Get her drunk again and let nature have its way.

NAME: Marilyn Quayle
RELEVANCE: Wife of semi-retarded ex-Vice Prez Dan Quayle
WHY SHE'S SEXY: Looks like Loretta Lynn with an overbite.
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Let her nibble on my dick like it's corn on the cob.

NAME: Debbie Brannigan
RELEVANCE: Curator of conservative website capitalistchicks.com
WHY SHE'S SEXY: Will ya look at the pair of barkin' MacGuffey's on her?
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Have her ride me on top while she wears a party hat, plays the kazoo, and wears pasties on her ta-tas.

NAME: Lauren Bush
RELEVANCE: Sixteen-year-old niece of soon-to-be-reelected President George W. Bush WHY SHE'S SEXY: Nice eyes. You can just tell she ain't had no real dick yet.
WHAT I'D DO TO HER: Dry-fuck her ass the day she turns 18.

I gotta admit it, I like me some porno. I enjoy looking at all those fancy gals with their big boobies hopplin' out all over the place and their vaginas all spread-open like the mouth of a moray eel, ready to take me inside of itself and show me the sort of rootin'-tootin' night on the town that I haven't seen in a long, long time. I like to look at these fil-lies' poopers, all round and bouncy and soft, imagining that one day I'll be actually able to insert parts of my body into a girl's derriere without someone calling the cops.

I'm proud to the point of robustness at the fact that I currently use my credit card to subscribe to over three dozen Internet porno sites. I spend more on porno every month than I do on rent, and looking at the pictures of these fine ladies gives me a tingling sense of warmth, community, and a very strong idea of what a vagina actually looks like.

Until quite recently, I've never been disappointed with my porno purchases. Usually, these cool porno websites deliver exactly what they promise—"aborigenenudes.com" features thousands of photos of HOT aborigine women frolicking in their natural element and playing with beach balls... "mormontwats.com" boasts several galleries of discreet ladies from Utah having polygamous sex with their bearded hubbies while several delighted farm animals watch from afar...and my current favorite, "cafeteriawoman.org," is the Net's premier location for tasteful naked pictorials of middle-aged women who work in high-school cafeterias.

So let's just say I was more than a little P.O.d when I recently subscribed to this "suicidegirls.com" thing, only to discover that it doesn't have a SINGLE picture of a chick actually committing suicide.

That's right. You heard me correctly, mister. This isn't like some sort of Emergency Broadcast System test where they pretend there's a nuclear war but they're just making sure that all the equipment works. This is the God's honest truth, yo: All of les jeunes filles on this bogus website are ALIVE 'N' KICKIN' and doing quite well, thank you very much, and not ONE of them has committed suicide like the advertising materials promised me.

I signed up for a subscription with the best of intentions. "Cool," I thought to myself, "I don't mind shelling out forty-eight bucks a year to see lots of hot chix swallowing poison and slitting their wrists and jumping from buildings and letting their car run with the windows rolled up. That's easily worth four bucks a month for all the pleasure it would bring me."

But I was duped. Swindled. Hoodwinked. Hornswoggled. They pulled the wool over my eyes and sold me some oceanfront property in Kansas. They knew what they were doing all along, and

396 # of suicidegirls, late September 2004

I'm sure they're sitting somewhere in their cushy offices with bean-bag chairs, glass-top coffee tables, and secretaries with push-up bras serving all the snacks you can eat, laughing at my misfortune and waiting for the next sucker to come along.

I mean, a lot of these girls are really cute, and they even feature several naked minorities, which I didn't know even know was legal. Sure, they're young and skinny, but give 'em a few years and a few turkey dinners and they'll blow up real good and look like actual women. Seriously, if any of them were to come up to me on the street and say, "Howdy, big boy—you wanna slip on back to my place and plop your wiener inside of me until I scream and holler and say, 'Hey, now, that feels kinda good?,' I'd definitely say "Yeah" and even try to buy them some tasty beverages as we headed back to her crib. I'm nice that way. I'm nice like spice in a bowl of rice.

But I don't like being played like a barnyard fiddle, and that's exactly what I feel like—a freakin' barnyard fiddle. An angry barnyard fiddle. A barnyard fiddle that seeks justice, compensation, restitution, and a sense of fair play.

Instead, I am left with a mossy, filmy, somewhat grapefruitlike taste in the roof of my mouth. It is the bitter taste of betrayal. These chicks can talk the talk, but they don't walk the walk, and they definitely aren't committing suicide like the ads say. This is false advertising, and suicidegirls.com is filled to the brim with poseurs who, I hate to say it, probably won't EVER commit suicide until the authorities get involved and force them to either shut down or deliver on their promise.

I want a refund.

Trick or Treat

Obviously the big news this month is Halloween. Show me a stripper who doesn't like to get dressed up and messed up and I'll punch her in the throat. Every club in town is putting on a Halloween Party. Plan your week wisely and by the time October 31st rolls around you'll be dead (drunk).

Get into the spirit at Stars Salem's Pajama Party on the sixteenth, a perfect prelude to Halloween and the place to be if you're a bloodthirsty psychopathic slasher celebrity wanna-be. Stars Beaverton gets the party started in earnest on Wednesday the 27th with a Halloween Party featuring a PORN MAZE (first one to get through is a rotten egg) and their infamous fire bar.

On October 28th it's PORNOWEEN at Safari. Local porn newbies will be on hand for the in-house screening of their very own vids! Press the flesh with Kimberly Kane, Skyler Storm, Solara Starr, Troy T-Bone and more. Porn talent scouts will be on hand if you think you've got what it takes... A costume contest follows at 11PM, if anyone's wearing any clothes.

The party continues October 29th, 30th and 31st at Dancin' Bare. Wear your costume and compete for prizes. (Scary.) Dancin' Bare also hosts Oktoberfest all month long, featuring daily specials. More made-for-slashers fun at the Bare's Naughty School Girl Party on the 13th and Wet T-Shirt Contest on the 21st. Double Date Night returns on 10/28, featuring two girls on every stage and two steak and shrimp dinners for only $15. Bring your lady. Bring two.

ONE SMALL STEP FOR MAN, ONE GIANT LEAP FOR MANKIND

I wasn't there, citing the usual "troubles in paradise," but I've seen the photos. And I'll never be the same. Whoa! Who knew when they got VIP passes to Exotic's Anniversary Party that they were going to wind up at a drunken orgy with stripper luminaries crawling around on all fours? Probably everyone. No fights this year, just good dirty fun. Steve "Fiesta" Santoro took one for the team and cleaned up in Safari's pool for the World's First Underwater Tabledance. He will never be the same, either.

Back to School

On October 3rd, Nerve Magazine sexologists Em & Lo are coming to Portland (Dante's) to show us how it's done. Sex Ed for Grown-Ups involves videos, music, parodies and skits, a 'test your sex IQ' game show, Q&As and more, covering everything from Anal to Zany S-E-X. I'm sure more than a few of you could learn SOMETHING at this workshop, so please, take notes. Stick around for Sinferno, when Portland gals show these New York lassies how we do it—West Coast Style.

DEAD MOON FOR PRESIDENT

"I DON'T KNOW IF I'D WANT THAT JOB!"

Portland rock luminaries brush up against slumming hipsters trip over pretty newbies get photographed by Stephen Malkmus.

Penniless street punks hang out outside, listening to the quintessential sound of Portland. It's a rebel yell.

Fred and Toody are fifty-seven years old. On average they play ONE HUNDRED shows a year. Every year they play more shows to bigger audiences. Europe can't get enough of them. They are, in a word, primal. The otherworldly wail of Fred's guitar and voice, Toody's Patti-Smith-like incantations and her cover of "Paint It Black," her loud throbbing bass and Loomis's brutal drumming... these are among the most beautiful sounds I know. Sounds like home.

Fred Cole started penning seminal songs in his late teens; forty years later he knows what the fuck he's doing.

Fred Cole, lead singer of Dead Moon, relaxes on the groady couch in the Ash Street's cave-like green room. "Fuckin' ridiculous, gettin' this old. Just fuckin' ridiculous." "Who would've thought," seconds Toody, his pistol-hot wife of almost forty years and grandmother of his seven grandchildren.

They're headlining the closing night of Music Fest Northwest, playing their last Portland show before they jet off to Europe. Drummer Andrew Loomis pops in briefly, resplendent in a red and black pimp ensemble, to score coveted VIP passes for his lovely wife and mother. The rest of the extended family—all of Portland—waits downstairs.

Dead Moon is Portland. No other band has influenced the Portland scene as much, no Portland band's influence reaches further, no Portland band is as hard working. Or hard rocking.

Dead Moon shows are always packed with the faithful—old

VIVA: You're all from the Northwest, Fred's from Tacoma...

Toody: And Andrew and I are both from Portland.

VIVA: What do you think is special about this area? What inspires you here?

Fred: The wilderness of it all. You can go five minutes out of the city and really visualize what it was like for Lewis and Clark to come through and see Oregon for the first time, all the fuckin' trees and shit. Being this close to Mt. Hood and the national forests and all the rivers we have, it really gives you the perspective of a pioneer.

Toody: There's nothing like it. The other thing that always hits me, besides the pioneer thing, is that Portland, ever since I can remember, back in high school, has had such a great, viable music scene. I took it for granted until I went other places and realized just how special it is. And the fact that Oregon has always been an incredibly independent state.

Fred: It's got a creative feel to it. Everyone here is really creative. It's amazing. I don't know if it's in the water or the air or the rain or nature....

VIVA: It's stubbornly creative. And I see Portland now as being very inspired by you. At your shows you see old people, young people, fuck ups, straights, everybody. I feel that Dead Moon, as citizens, have given tirelessly of yourselves and your time and that you should run for President.

Toody: Well, this town has given us so

"Love songs are sexy for me. 'My Baby Does the Hanky Panky' is not my idea of a fucking turn-on, ok?"
—Fred Cole

fred

much it's unbelievable, too. This is home. We've traveled everywhere and there's no place like home. This is it.

VIVA: I guess we should know your platform. You seem pretty pro-family values, having been married almost forty years...

Toody: Thirty-seven.

VIVA: What do you think about gay marriage?

Toody: I think that relationships are enough of a bitch; if you find your soul mate, that's great! It's such a small percentage of the population that ever do and it's something that everybody's looking for.

Fred: I have never been able to understand why, when people aren't hurting somebody else, they have to get fucked with. It's so hard for people to be happy, and I don't really give a fuck whether it's smoking or whatever. They say that second-hand smoke is killing people, but I doubt it. If people don't like it, don't go to bars! They should have bars that are smoker bars and bars that are non-smoking bars. If you're not into being gay, then don't be gay! If you are, fuck! Who cares?

Toody: It's like pick your poison! No matter how much Americans want to believe that they're not gonna die, we all are. So, just make the journey as enjoyable as possible and do what works for you! And what works for me isn't necessarily gonna work for you or Joe Blow down the block. As long as you don't force what works for you on me, I'm fine with it.

VIVA: What are your poisons?

Fred: We joke all the time about what gamblers we are, but we play penny Keno machines and we never get hurt by it. Sometimes we end up making a lot of money, but it all evens out.

Toody: Usually it's just entertainment and you lose your shorts... We're cheapskates!

VIVA: Good! That's how you keep rock'n'rolling and surviving.

Fred: We've never been into drugs. We drink. Sometimes when we come home from tour we drink too much but after we drink too much for two weeks we dry out. We go to Reno and when we're gambling we never drink. We have our coffee but we never have any booze, even though they bring it to us for free. That's our thing.

VIVA: Dead Moon's platform. Do you think voting is important and will you be voting in November?

Fred: Yeah! I think it's real important and I'm gonna be voting for George Bush and everyone thinks I'm crazy. I already know what to expect from him. I don't really feel like change is gonna make that much difference. At least we know where George Bush is at. I'd really hate to vote for somebody and have them come into office and then all of a sudden a whole lot of stuff really does change majorly. That to me is even more scary than knowing what to expect.

Toody: At this point for the last—oh, shit—fifteen, twenty years we've been really disgusted with what choice there is. I can completely understand why everyone's so apa-

"You just make ripples and change a few people in your own little pond. That's more important to me."
—Toody Cole

thetic. We're old enough to be cynical. At this point the President doesn't really run the country anyway. To me it's like a big corporation.

VIVA: It is a big corporation. I almost feel like the terrorists are the only revolutionaries really making a statement. How can you make your voice heard other than screaming onstage?

Toody: We grew up in the sixties when everybody was totally idealistic about everything, us included. This much time goes by and nothing—no matter what anybody sacrificed, did, whatever—has changed... You just make ripples and change a few people in your own little pond. That's more important to me.

VIVA: Admirable females in rock'n'roll are few and far between. When you were raising your kids, did you turn them on to any certain ladies?

Toody: I was always a big fan of Janis Joplin. Not her lifestyle, per se, but her singing just totally killed me, and I think she was an incredibly strong woman. I've been really blessed to have incredibly strong women in my life and in my family. Those were always a bigger influence, my mother especially. I tried to be that for my daughter Amanda. Kate Hepburn, too, was a big idol of mine when I was a kid. I really appreciate it when anyone younger than me gets that from me. It's like passing it on, and all of us need to do that.

VIVA: Do you ever go to strip bars in town?

Toody: Nah.

VIVA: Then you haven't had the pleasure of—well, Fred, you must have seen a stripper strip to your songs at some point.

Fred: Yeah. In Vegas. I was just out of high school. We got hired to play at the Colonial Inn, which at the time was right on the strip. I was nervous about playing anyway. I got onstage and there were all these go-go girls. They came out with this star spangled shit. One gal turns around and drops her bra and comes around in front of me with these huge boobs.... Fuck! I was sixteen years old! I was so nervous. I couldn't even handle it. We played there about a month and it took me two weeks to get it together enough to play. The whole time it was just like, "Oh God!" And she thought it was funnier than shit. She knew I was just blowin' it. Back then you could be onstage under twenty-one, but as soon as your set was over you had to go back in the kitchen or outside. The only time I could be in the joint I'd be on stage and there was that girl and Oh My God!

VIVA: What makes music sexy?

Fred: When it's real.

Toody: To me it's a combination of sight, sound, feel, when it hits all your senses, when you feel the bass going through you and the treble goes to your head. If the songs are great and there's passion there it's actually like a sexual experience between the band and the audience.

Fred: Seeing a band just running through the motions is totally unsexy. If I see a band and it looks like it's rehearsed, to me that's like a dude coming into a bar with a line. "Oh, wow! Love your hair! What's your sign?" It isn't real. It doesn't turn you on. It doesn't really matter to me what kind of music it is. There's bands in every vein that turn me on, that I like, and in every vein that I look at 'em and I think, "Aww fuck you. What are you going to be into next week?"

Toody: The other thing that kills me is great vocals, where you can tell that somebody is really baring their soul to you, which is a very difficult thing to do. That's why it has such an emotional impact on people. It's happening to you right then and there. It's a voyeurism. You're letting them in on a side that usually you wouldn't show anybody.

VIVA: I interviewed the Lucky 13's last month and asked them who the sexiest singer was and one of them said Fred Cole. It's a primal thing; you've got it. [He laughs.]

Toody [to Fred]: Well, I think you're hot!

VIVA: Hee! Alright. Sexiest song of all time?

Toody: Willie Nelson's "Angel Flying Too Close to the Ground." That particular one just nails the man-woman thing for me.

Fred: "Stand By Your Man." "Always On My Mind." Love songs are sexy for me. "My Baby Does the Hanky Panky" is not my idea of a fucking turn-on, ok? "Wild Horses" by the Stones just kills me.

VIVA: Sexiest guitar sound of all time?

Fred: AC/DC. I love the rhythm those guys come up with. Keith Richards.

Toody: To me it's the rhythm and bluesy stuff. I'd have to say Keith.

VIVA: Best Stones song ever?

Fred: They've got a million of them. I'd have to say "Time Waits for No One." [Fred leaves to check out the opener.]

Toody: The two that kill me the most are "Sympathy for the Devil" and "Gimme Shelter."

VIVA: Best Dylan record?

Toody: Blonde on Blonde. And I especially loved how much shit everyone gave him for going electric and how terrible that was, 'cause I think that's the best thing he's ever done.

VIVA: Sexiest city in the world?

Toody: Portland.

VIVA: Sexiest band ever?

Toody: The Stones.

VIVA: What's sexy about your husband?

Toody: Oh, everything. Everything. He's the complete package. There's a creative side, a responsible, financial security side, an incredibly sensitive side, a very hard side, independent and vulnerable, you name it.

VIVA: Wow... You lucked out, huh?

Toody: Yeah.

VIVA: Would you rather go bowhunting with the Nuge or drink til ya puke with Lemmy?

Toody: Lemmy! I'm dying to meet him. Let me talk to that asshole.

VIVA: What color panties are you wearing and how long have you been wearing them?

Toody: White and probably three days. I'm lazy and I use whatever—plain old cotton shit, nothing fancy. I'm not a girl girl.

WHATZ CRACKIN'?

What up P-Town? It's ya homie Mack with another episode of Whatz Crackin'! In this month's column you'll get a chance to check out some of the pictures from my "Honey of the Month" contest. If you weren't there at the Safari Club you probably heard about it! It was definitely on and Crackin'! Big ups to all the honeys that entered the competition. In this article I'll also be giving props to some of my favorite bartenders around town. Much love also goes out to all my Libras celebrating birthdays! Yeahh!!!

First Up — The Honey of the Month Contest

The Safari Club was jam-packed with partygoers eager to cheer for their favorite Honey.

The competition began with ten beautiful ladies trying to become the next Honey of the Month. There were five celebrity judges who's job it was to narrow the field of contestants down to four. The ladies were judged on Stage Presence, Sex Appeal, Personality, and Overall View. After the final four were selected, the lively crowd decided the winner. Congratulations to Tori, who won the audience over with her unique display of pole tricks. She was NO JOKE! Make sure you're at the next Honey of the Month Contest! It takes place on October 24th at The Safari Show Club, located at 3000 S.E. Powell Blvd. All dancers are invited to enter the contest. Good luck and I'll see ya there!!!

Next Up — Hey Bartender!!!

What would a nightclub, strip club, or restaurant be without a good ass bartender? These hard working individuals provide us with the juices we need to get our party on! In my opinion, bartenders have one of the best jobs in the business. It also can be one of the most hectic jobs, depending on how busy the club is. They are some of the coolest people in any establishment, and the last people that you want to piss off! Having been in the entertainment business for over seventeen years, I've noticed that most bartenders take a great deal of pride in what they do! I've got to give a shout out to a few of them for the work that they do and the drinks that they make. Big ups to Mindi at the Safari Club; your Spanish Coffees definitely kick ass! Congratulations on your baby boy! Much love to Sally at the Hideaway for hooking me up with one of your Sally Specials! I need that recipe! To Josh down at the Level, man I was feelin' it so hard off those Lou Ferrignos (aka Incredible Hulks) that I left my wallet at the club. Thanks for findin' it, dogg! To all my bartending friends and waitresses around the entire city of Portland, keep up the good work, and I'm sure I'll see you soon... To all of you out there that appreciate a good drink, don't forget to TIP!!!

J. Mack with DJ Diablo

Until next month, y'all keep it Crackin'!!!

Another Lonely Night

With Flagstone Walker

Porn has always liked to mimic popular TV shows and movies. Over the last few years the industry has moved away from spoofs. Too bad, that's some of the best stuff out there. But this month JM Productions has come to the rescue with GAG FACTOR 15. The first segment has a splendid take-off on the Iraqi prison scandal at Abu Ghraib. In a room packed with guys wearing black headscarves and screaming in Arabic, or at least gibberish intended to sound like Arabic, a translator says: "You Western devils, we will do to your women what you have done to our men. You degraded our people and now we will degrade yours. Semen will flow from your pores and you will know the wrath of the Arab world."

"Semen will flow from your pores and you will know the wrath of the Arab world."

The gang of Islamic fascists, no doubt in need of 71 virgins, proceed to shove their horny Koran cocks down Ashley Blue's throat. Ashley's on her knees decked out in an olive green T-shirt, a desert hat and dog tags. In the middle of gagging she does manage to scream out the words of Private Lynne England and others who were rounded up in the prison sex scandal: "I was only following orders."

Hey, maybe if Private England doesn't end up doing time in a military prison she could jump into porn. She's already got a start, having made a few vids with her Army boyfriend in the Abu Ghraib prison.

This is our FUCK THE VOTE issue. With the war in Iraq center stage, and both Kerry and Bush, in slightly different ways, pledged to stay the course, you might be inclined to opt out. If so, you will soon be reading in the newspaper and hearing from your politically sophisticated friends another major reason you must vote: the future composition of the Supreme Court.

Here's a glance at how it played out four years ago. During the presidential debate Al Gore said "The next president is going to appoint three, maybe even four, justices of the Supreme Court." Conservative right-to-life advocate Gary Bauer said if Bush was elected and filled more than one vacancy, "likely Roe vs. Wade would be overturned." Jesse Jackson, gazing toward the black-robed nine on the throne of justice at the end of the rainbow, said, "It's not about the next four years, it's about the next 40 years." (Jackson probably had his nemesis in mind, Clarence Thomas, 56, the youngest of the justices.)

Over the past four years there has been much speculation in the papers and from the talking heads on TV about justices considering retirement. This speculation centers on four justices, all aging and all of whom have had health problems: William Rehnquist, John Paul Stevens, Sandra Day O'Connor and Ruth Bader Ginsburg.

Today, all four remain on the bench. Still, the next administration will almost undoubtedly have to fill at least one vacancy. Especially if history is any indication.

Since the administration of Andrew Johnson after the Civil War, Jimmy Carter is the only president who did not have the opportunity to name a new justice. Barring a vacancy between now and the election, the same will hold for George W. Bush's term.

Excluding George Washington, who made all the appointments on the first Supreme Court, Franklin D. Roosevelt, elected four times while smoking three-and-a-half packs of Pall Malls a day, snagged the most appointments, eight between 1937 and 1943.

Republican William Howard Taft takes second place with five appointments in his single term (1909-1913). Later, Taft returned to Washington and served with some distinction as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court from 1921 to 1930. "Presidents come and go," said Taft, "but the Supreme Court goes on forever."

That none of the vacancies forecasted in 2000 have occurred will only fuel speculation this year with greater urgency, age and health remaining the reasons. John Paul Stevens is the oldest on the court at 84. Chief Justice William Rehnquist turns 80 this month. Only four justices in the history of the court have served beyond their 85th birthdays. Then, too, it has been a ten-year stretch with no openings, the longest since 1823.

Yeah, this time around there will almost certainly be one opening, and likely two or three. Which of these geezers will croak on the bench? When will the multitude of ailments eating away at their interiors send two or three into peaceful retirement?

It's especially easy to get caught up in this less-than-wellness watch. I concede I'm hazy on decisions written by Rehnquist. But I have a bad back, so I've been a devoted follower of his deteriorating spine, ever since 1977. Might he bail because of it, many wondered? No, and might that be because Jimmy Carter sat in the White House? His speech slurred briefly in January, 1982, caused by drugs he used to relieve severe back pain. Six months later he landed in the hospital for minor surgery. Good time to sail away then with Ronald Reagan at the helm. But he stayed aboard. Surgery again in 1995 for a herniated disc while Bill Clinton felt our pain. Might Rehnquist have muttered, "Feel mine, too, no way I'm gonna bolt now."

Rehnquist is way too far to the right for my taste, but given my rude take on the Chief Justice dude, I wish him good health, at the very least for another four years. If you really want to Fuck the Vote, write in Ashley Blue for prez. X
