Strippers vs. Burlesque pg. 47

Whorescopes pg. 49

Girls of Exotic pg. 50

Northwest Royale pg. 61

Mother-daughter stripping midget teams are a dime a dozen amid the red barns and horse manure that define everyday life out here in rural Pennsylvania. But this spring marked a special date, a milestone for central Bucks County's thriving sex industry—Li'l Gretl Schratweiser turned 18 and became legally empowered to join her mother GRETA (36) and her grandmother GERTIE (53) as part of the "Little Sisters," who are now thought to be the only tri-generational team of stripping midgets east of Pennsylvania Dutch Country.

And the most amazing part of all is that they're all Buddhists!

Gertie and Greta, even though they're technically mother and daughter, have been dancing as "The Little Sisters" at Kling-a-Ding-Diddle's in Quakertown, PA (right near the Q-Mart) since the early 1990s. Their act, however, has always been more sophisticated than a mere tawdry exploitation of their adorable "little person" status—it has consistently featured juggling, fire-dancing, mutual grape-feeding, and all the parlor tricks that normal strippers do. Their wrestling journey has taken them through oil, hot cream, spaghetti, and mud. On special occasions (and for a hefty fee), they have been known to perform a complicated maneuver they call the "Velvet Donkey." They've even graced the silver screen in an X-rated version of midget classic The Terror of Tiny Town, performing simulated 69 on one another over a techno remix of "Follow the Yellow Brick Road" that earned them an AVN Video Award nomination for Best Simulated 69 Scene by a Mother-Daughter Team of Little People.

But despite such achievements, Gertie and Greta remained more of an underground cult sensation than a pop-culture phenomenon. In contrast, their success has been sudden and massive since the addition of Li'l Gretl. They've been on Good Morning, America and Charlie Rose. Even ex-president Bill Clinton is said to be a fan. In a word, they are H-O-T.

"Li'l Gretl brings a young, sassy, unpredictable element to the act which, frankly, was missing before," says Dag Sloat, wunderkind editor of Bucks County XXX, the most successful of an estimated six free publications distributed throughout the Greater Perkiomen Valley's gentlemen's clubs and erotic juice bars. "Unlike Gertie and Greta—who represent more of the classic-rock generation—Li'l Gretl brings a sensibility that is very urban, very hip-hop, very now. And the guys just LOVE her. You never know what she'll do next!" Sloat beams.

"She'll come out in

ARE

these crazy outfits—like a man's tie and a fig leaf—and the crowd just goes wild."

"WE HAVE SMALL VAGINAS," Gertie Schratweiser, elder stateswoman of the Little Sisters tells me with a wink when I ask her to explain their appeal to averaged-sized men. "Very small, very tight vaginas." A warm-yet-stern woman, Gertie corrects me sharply when I refer to her as a midget. "We are DWARVES," she hisses, her eyebrows arched behind Coke-bottle glasses. "And technically, the proper spelling is 'dwarfs,' but everybody gets that one wrong. But referring to me as a 'midget' is like calling an Arab an Israeli. It just isn't done. We have normal-sized heads. They're little from head to toe." She refers to porn star Bridget the Midget as a "self-hating dwarf" and recalls an onstage catfight between the Little Sisters and the notorious Smalltown Midgets from nearby Reading, PA, which culminated in gunfire. When I ask her to pinpoint the basic dispute between midgets and dwarves, she says, "It's good to know your enemies" and demands that we change the subject.

"The Buddha is looking over us, so it's all good," Gertie says philosophically. She recalls the "tough days" before converting to Buddhism when other strippers would pull tricks such as hiding the Little Sisters' dancer's bags on high shelves so they couldn't reach them. "But the Buddha is watching after my bootylicious ass now," Gertie says. "I was stripping when I had my baby, and she was dancing when she had hers. Even though it's always hard being a single mom, the Buddha is taking care of us."

I finally muster the courage to ask her whether the Little Sisters have ever engaged in incest. "Nice ladies don't tell," she says with a demure eyelash flutter. "But I will tell you this—Li'l Gretl is pregnant!"

Thanks for the scoop, Gertie! Hope you're still around in eighteen years for the follow-up story!

THEY CALL THEMSELVES "THE LITTLE SISTERS," BUT THEY'RE ACTUALLY GRANDMA, MOTHER, AND DAUGHTER! AND NOT ONLY ARE THEY DWARVES WHO STRIP... THEY'RE ALL BUDDHISTS, TOO!

ADULT SHOP

Elegant Angel and Lancaster Distributors present porn super starlets, TIANA LYNN and KINZIE KENNER, signing at "Adult Shop" stores on Friday June 9th, and Saturday June 10th. Squirt princess, Tiana Lynn, is the star of Elegant Angel's highly successful "Supersquirt" and "Cum Rain Cum Shine," series, while Kinzie Kenner recently shot her first anal scene in an Elegant Angel production entirely devoted to her loveliness, "Li' Red Riding Slut," as well as featuring in the highly popular "Big Wet Asses 7." They are both two of the most beautiful porn stars currently in the biz, who, unlike so many other stars, are even more beautiful to look at in person. This is an opportunity not to be missed!

June 2006

Summer in Portland. You gotta love it. Being schooled in the art of flesh as we all are in this town, it's really nice to see the sun come out, (be it ever so brief) and watch all the clothes start coming off. Portland always amused me in this way. On that first day where the temperature kicks up and the solar rays are blazing, it seems like everyone in this town immediately decides to bust out the flip flops, the shorts, the bikini, whatever, just as long as it shows 80% of what God gave ya. And this isn't just because you're going to the beach; living in Portland, you need to take advantage of the heat while ya got it. So from the MILFs shopping at Fred Meyer to that secretary having a latte at Starbucks, for a short time, they have one thing in common with your favorite exotic dancer—it's all about the skin, baby. So eat it up, Portland—enjoy the summer while it lasts. And just to make sure your summer nights are hot and sticky, all of our finest sex-crazed establishments are, of course, pulling out all the stops to make sure your summer nights are hot and sticky.

IN DA CLUBS

After a fierce series of competitions, a new queen of all things exotic has been crowned. Congrats to Alex, Miss Nude Oregon 2006 of The Dolphin. Aside from the lovely Alex, The Dolphin has plenty of ways to keep you hot this month. At the Dolphin I, stop by for Bartender Extraordinaire "Tawnya's" Happy Birthday Bash on Wednesday, June 28th @ 9pm. And over at Dolphin 2, stay tuned for Stripper Boxing and an outdoor patio in the forecast for Summer. Wanna be a Dolphin V.I.P.? Stop by D1 for V.I.P. Card Giveaways every Thursday, and the same at D2 on Wednesday nights.

Over at Wildcats, you can check out their DJ Contest Sunday, June 4th @ 7pm...Panty Night Friday, June 16th @ 9pm...The 1st day of Summer Bikini Party Wednesday, June 21st @ 6pm...and Ultimate Fighter 3 Parties every Thursday @ 10pm.

It's Ladies' Night Every Tuesday at DV8, plus a Budweiser is Back On-Tap Party Friday, June 9th @ 9pm with serious giveaways. The Boom Boom Room will be holding their 2nd Annual Bikini Contest coming Thursday, July 13th, and stop by to see the shakin'est booty in town, Ladybug, who just won the Boom Boom's annual Booty Shaking Contest.

Like a phoenix rising from the ashes, (literally) be sure to stop by and welcome back Soobie's on their Grand Re-Opening Day Thursday, June 15th. Also coming soon is a $5,000 Boob Job contest open to all entertainers.

You can see this month's covergirl Lindsay, along with all the other hotties over at Cabaret, celebrating its Two Year Anniversary with a party so big it's gonna take two days, on Friday, July 7th and Saturday, July 8th featuring amazing giveaways and even more amazing shows! Over at City Limits, you can now get your drink on with the all-new full bar and free admission with this month's ad. They are also actively, hiring rumor has it, so check 'em out.

Exotica will be hosting its Customer Appreciation Carnival Night Saturday, June 24th with local R&B sensation Arjay CD release party featuring a live performance plus giveaways, specials and a free BBQ starting @ 5pm. Meanwhile, over at the Pallas, for the body-mod-friendly, you can enjoy their Tattoo Party with Raven Ink on Saturday, June 10th, where you can get a chance to win some free ink, plus a Summer Beach Party on Saturday, June 24th. And if the heat hasn't gotten to you yet, be sure not to miss the "Atlantis Forged From Fire" Party on Friday, June 23rd, at the one and only Atlantis, (my favorite strip club I've never been to, love you too, Claude, not in a gay way, of course!) This blazing bash will feature a fire bar, tropical drinks and fire-dancing with Miss Ty Fyre.

Lush is proud to present DJ Trouble, Portland's first naked DJ, appearing exclusively at Lush. Keep your eyes open for an all-new Lush coming soon with new stages, bar, hot tub, bed, V.I.P. area and expanded menu with naked sushi packages. With the growth will come the need for new help, so stop by if you're looking for work.

Jody's Bar and Grill embraces the dark side with their Devil's Night 6-6-6 on Friday, June 6th. No, they won't be sacrificing dancers to the Dark One, but they will feature heavy metal all night long. Now wait a minute—does metal HAVE to be associated with the Devil? I heard from a reliable source that Satan is responsible for the music of Alanis Morissette and Milli Vanilli, but the closest thing to metal he had a hand in was Limp Bizkit. So anywayze, get to Jody's and bang your heads all night long as you await the coming of the Antichrist.

And if you prefer to spend the most evil of all nights further South, head on down to Stars Salem for their "Hell Night 6-6-6 Party" with live music by Debris and Kandles At Nine. What else is there to do after a night of good metal, you might ask? Stars Salem has the answer! Try the Slayer After Party @ 10pm on Thursday, June 15th, and The Rob Zombie After Party Friday, August 4th @ 10pm. Coming next month, AVN Newcomer of the Year Carmen Luvana will be celebrating 10 Years of Stars on Saturday, July 22nd, with a 50's Cruise In V.I.P. event. Check out next month's issue for all the goods on that one.

ELSEWHERE...

Elegant Angel Adult Stars Tiana Lynn and Kinzie Kenner will be appearing live for signings at The Adult Shop in Eugene on Friday, June 9th @ 4pm and at The Adult Shop in Salem on Saturday, June 10th @ 2pm.

Bust out the welcome wagon to: Passionate Dreams, now opening their new location at 10518-B NE Sandy Blvd....Valentine Video's new store just off St. Johns @ 6935 NE Fessenden...and Exotic Knights Books with a new video store @ 5620 NE MLK. Last and certainly not least, welcome to Sugar and Spice (formerly Sugar Daddy's), a brand-spankin'-new lingerie shop where naughty is nice featuring a complete remodel, new owner, new management, and new girls. (But there's always room for more—they're hiring, ladies!)

That's it for me this month—no mud slinging, no bullshit. Or wait, maybe just one thing. In a past episode of Exotic City, I consoled a former Exotic contributor for whom I regretted there was no longer any competition that would employ our castaways, but I stand corrected. So, Christopher, I dedicate this to you, the "original castaway." We all hope you're happy together.

DI BIRGUVUVE

Would we know before it was too late that our partner, who was just writhing uncontrollably in perceived ecstasy, was really struggling for air?

Regardless of why, there are times when fetishes go too far, when good people with a simple naughty streak end up hurt or dead. If you mix this sexual deviancy with a chemical imbalance, usually accompanied by a fucked-up childhood, that's when real problems arise. There is always a line to be crossed, and some people are so far-gone in their warped sexual world that they force their perversions on others. While some offenders—such as the flasher of my adolescence—are pretty harmless, there are some that lead to horrible things like body parts in the freezer. It's one thing to fuck your girlfriend when she's asleep so you can live out your fantasy of doing a dead girl—it's another thing to actually kill her.

From basic flashers to grave-digging necrophiliacs, it takes all kinds of people to create the world of sexual deviancy, and in some cases there's really no telling where the compulsions will lead.

ASPHYXIATION

Autoerotic asphyxiation deaths are much more common than I expected, and it was difficult to choose which sex-scene-gone-wrong to list here. I decided to focus on the more famous one: Michael Hutchence of INXS, who was found hanging naked from a door in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Sydney, Australia. Taken from the scene were a belt and five bottles of prescription drugs, including Prozac. For those who aren't clear exactly what autoerotic asphyxiation is all about, Hutchence more than likely wrapped the belt around his neck and slammed the other end into the closed door to keep it from slipping. He then proceeded to masturbate while choking the shit out of himself. Given all the drugs in his system, he probably didn't realize how far he'd gone until it was too late or—as often happens with Auto-Asphyx cases—the victim probably lost consciousness before being able to unclasp the belt. For a while, Hutchence's death was ruled a suicide, but too many things didn't add up. There was no suicide note. He had made a lunch date just before he died. He seemed happy the night before and excited for the future. This is the perfect example of people, especially rock stars, thinking they are immune to reality. He planned to string himself up by the neck while high as kite, and then go out to lunch?

HUTCHENCE

AUTO-EROTICA?

I don't know if this guy had a car fetish, or an elaborate-scenes fetish, but this odd death included both. Evidently, in 1973, this guy rigged up his Volkswagen to lead him around by the neck like a horse in an arena. He tied a ten-foot long chain from the bumper to his neck and arranged it all MacGyver-style so it would circle slowly in a clearing, in first gear. He took off all his clothes and let the car drive him around the clearing for who knows how long, probably jacking off the whole way. There was evidence that he'd done this several times before, but on this fateful night when he approached the car to shut it off, the car fought back. The chain that was attached from his neck to the bumper somehow got caught in the real axle, and it sucked him right up. It smashed him, choking and fighting, into the left wheel area of the car.

When I was 10 years old, I was approached by a man in his early 40s who decided I would be the perfect target for his exhibitionism. He looked me straight in the eye and unbuttoned his shirt to reveal a lacy white bra. My ten-year-old mind did not compute why a man was wearing a bra, or why he felt it necessary to show me, much less anyone else, and I dismissed it without thinking twice.

Now that I'm an adult, I look back on the experience with mixed emotion. The realist in me knows that the scenario could have been much worse. The humanitarian in me, the one who's done loads of research, knows that his intent was probably just to shock me, to gain gratification for his cross-dressing exhibitionism. That was his particular fetish, and except for some confusing thoughts, it left me virtually unharmed.

As we know, this is not always the case. In fact, whenever information about a new serial killer surfaces on the news, there's usually a sexual motive associated with it. When a woman's body is found mutilated, we assume it was also raped. When a child is kidnapped, we fearfully try not to imagine the horrific sexual crimes that might also be committed against them. We hope for the best but expect the worst.

What is this connection between sex and death? Is it such a powerful motivator that people are left defenseless to its influence? Is there an imbalance in some people that makes them unable to hit the "too far" button? Is it just poor planning? We all know how stupid some people can be—there's even a website devoted to dumb criminals. Perhaps they believe they are immune to disaster or imagine they're smarter than the last idiot who hung himself while masturbating.

Maybe all logic and reason flies out the window in the face of passion. Most of us have had the experience of mysterious bruises, scratches or bite marks appearing on our bodies after sex, which we admit to being desensitized to during the act. So what's to say we would notice if our windpipe was being clamped too tightly, or that we were losing consciousness from too much blood loss?

CANNIBALISM

There were a couple of runners-up for the cannibalism category, the first being Jeffrey Dahmer, who is probably the most famous brain-picker of them all. Another likely candidate was Ed Gein, who inspired everything from Psycho to The Silence of the Lambs to The Texas Chainsaw Massacre.

But the creepiest of flesh-eating creeps was a man by the name of Armin Meiwes.

This guy put out a personals ad on the Internet for a “well built male prepared to be slaughtered and then consumed.” I know what you’re thinking. Nobody would be stupid enough to respond to that. Alas, dear readers, there was a man who was just as sick and twisted as Mr. Meiwes, and the two of them had the sheer luck of finding one another through that ad. Bernd-Jurgen Brandes met with Meiwes in March of 2001, and together they cut off Brandes’s penis, which Meiwes flambéed and served up for dinner. Don’t think Brandes was a victim—he consumed the, shall we say, cocktail as well. After the appetizer, Meiwes was evidently still hungry and proceeded to finish the job off, stabbing Brandes in the neck and eating off his body over the next few months. For a short time, Meiwes was only convicted of manslaughter, as Brandes had willingly taken part, but the courts soon came to their senses, and Meiwes was sentenced to life in prison.

MEIWES

SEX CRIMES: MURDER

Most of the cases listed so far have been people who accidentally died during their own sexual pursuits. But as I said before, there are many instances where people take their sexual fetishes, or shortcomings, out on other people. Serial killers tend to have a recurring sexual undertone to their crimes, and in many cases the crimes are committed when the killer is living out a sexual fantasy of some sort. As there have been books upon books written about sex-related killers, they at least deserve an honorable mention in this piece.

Popular names that come to mind are Ted Bundy (who raped almost all of his victims before killing them), Jack the Ripper (who made a hobby of killing hookers), similar in his M.O. to Gary “The Green River Killer” Ridgway (who also had a taste for prostitutes), John Wayne Gacy (who sexually assaulted and murdered 33 boys and men), closely followed by William “The Freeway Killer” Bonin, who raped and killed 21 boys and men within a two-year time span, and finally, Kenneth Bianchi and Angelo Buono, the “Hillside Stranglers” who took out their hatred of women by posing their beaten, raped and strangled bodies in grotesque positions.

VAN COSEL

BESTIALITY

I know you guys are tired about hearing about Enumclaw, WA. But no death-by-fetish story would be complete without the guy who took his love of horses a bit too far. Bestiality is a tough one. Honestly, I don’t see anything wrong with a little peanut butter on the nipples, but shoving 20 inches of raging equestrian cock into an orifice that can only hold about half that, well, that’s the kind of fetish stupidity that will go down in history. Kenneth Pinyan and another man videotaped the event, and after Pinyan asked for a few more inches, he suddenly stopped, claiming, “Something popped.” That statement brings us just a little bit closer to the situation, doesn’t it? Pinyan’s colon was perforated and he died hours later at the hospital. He is the only person known in history to have been ass-fucked to death by a horse. I guess Pinyan helps us answer the age-old question—does size really matter?

This list doesn’t even begin to cover the many other ways in which people took their fetishes too far. You can imagine the list of blood-play victims, or people who have suffocated in rubber masks, or even those who’ve gotten infections from scat play. There are people who have choked on their clothes while masturbating.

There was even a guy who died from an alcohol enema. There are rumors galore, urban legends and myths that are based on sex-related deaths, and some of them can get pretty nasty (just Google “Lobster Masturbation”), but the stories listed here are 100% true, and show you how twisted, or just plain stupid some people can be.

This can also be taken as a warning to all you horse-whisperers out there, or people who like a little extra choke in their chain: You are NOT immune to gravity, you DO need air to survive, and no, you CANNOT fit that in there!

BUNDY

NECROPHILIA

Necrophilia is another fetish that has some debate as to its criminal nature. Can you rape someone who is no longer of this earth? In all honesty, does it really harm the victim? Sure, it’s disgusting to some, but are necrophiliacs any more perverted than people who like to be vomited on by their living partners? Perhaps this story will help you decide. In 1931, a radiologist by the name of Carl von Cosel fell in love with a young tuberculosis patient named Maria. She died before he could ask her to marry him, so he kidnapped her body and brought it home with him. For seven years he maintained her corpse as best he could, strengthening her bones with piano wire, replacing her eyes with glass ones and her skin with a mixture of wax and silk. He kept her in his bed with him, dressed in a wedding gown, and he even created a pseudo-vagina by inserting a tube into her rotting body. He was finally caught by his sister when she showed up unexpectedly, but he served no time because his only real crime was grave-robbing, on which the statute of limitations had run out. He was set free but never escaped his obsession with Maria. When he died years later he was found alone in a room, holding a large doll that was wearing Maria’s death mask.

"DJ QUIK Returns to the Rose City"

That's right, baby! It's goin' down Friday June 9th at the Roseland Theater, so hurry up and get your tickets. This time around Quik is coming with a live band to back him. Plus, yours truly will be also performing a few of my new jointz! When I brought Quik to town several years ago, there's was a situation with me and a few members in his crew. I just want everybody to know that we are all cool now, and I can't wait to hit the stage on the 9th of June! Performing with me will be DJ L.B. and my boy C-Anthony. If you have never seen DJ QUIK throw down live, make sure you're at this show! Tickets are $30 in advance through Tickets West. For more information, please call (503) 224-8499.

D.J. QUIK

Don't wait until the last minute, because this show will more than likely sell out! Just ask some of the people that didn't see Ice Cube when he came to town. Also on the card and scheduled to perform is Portland's own Sassy. To those of you that might not know, this is her first big show since losing her mother Linda "Ghetto Moms" Adams. May she rest in peace. The Roseland Theater is the place for all you hip-hop heads and R&B fans to be on June 9th. I hope to see you all there. I will also be hosting a big after-party at Club 720 (Formerly The Viper Room). The club is located at 720 SE Hawthorne. Don't miss out!

Keepin' it Crackin'... "2-12 Entertainment"

These catz are definitely making some moves in the P-Town! They are producing records, promoting concerts, and operate one of Portland's most elite barbershops located next to Billy Reed's. Chuck Cheezy and Shoty Zulu (aka MR BIGG STUFF) have an album droppin' mid-summer, and believe me they got some madd jointz! I was at Club 720 when Chuck played his new hot single "The Wiggle Jiggle." Not only is this a cut, but the homie also has his own dance to the track. You can check them out Saturday, June 10th, at the Bliss Nightclub. They will be sharing the stage with the original human beat-box, Mr. Doug E. Fresh! The tickets for the show are $25 at the door. Don't miss this one, baby! You can also check them out every Wednesday and Saturday at the Bliss. They are this month's winners of the "Keepin' it Crackin' Award." Big ups, y'all, and keep up the good work!

Big ups to my Whatz Crackin' sponsors 503girls.com, Hot Wireless, and Serendipity Salon in Vancouver, Washington. Also, hit up my website at whatzcrackin.com.

Until next month, ya'll keep it crackin'!

NORTHWEST

One hot summer night, (yes we have them in the NW, fuckers!) I stumbled into a show at a local waterin' hole—aching for a little rock and a cold beer—when I happened upon an out-of-town band that rocked me straight to the front of the stage. That band was NORTHWEST ROYALE!

by badgirl

Yeah, I'm one those music-junkie type chicks (not a groupie), although I have an ant pile of friends in the industry. Typically I prefer to be the unseen force at a show—sometimes merely rocking out in my own world hiding in a corner...or jumping and singing...but almost always in the back of the show room.

OK—OK no, this column isn't about the fascinating and obscure life and times of the author, but sometimes you just want to set the stage...so shut the fuck up and read on.

Northwest Royale is a band that literally whips me into rock-girl submission. I used to start out Northwest Royale shows in the back of the room, but inevitably I ALWAYS ended right up at the front, moshing, singing, and giving myself rocklash. Nowadays I don't even attempt to be a backline rocker—I find my spot upfront and hem myself in for the duration of the show. I've left with bruises, knots, wet from spit and spilled drinks, but most of all e-fucking-lated. Northwest Royale has always had the magnetic ability to move me front row and center. They simply rock me in mysterious ways.

There are only a couple of other bands that will roll me to the front line, and some of those bands have had the unique opportunity to play with Northwest Royale—bands such as Slayer, Killswitch Engage, KMFDM, Mastodon, Testament, and Rob Zombie, just to name a few.

Playing stages and venues from every size, shape and form, Northwest Royale has the energy of a punk band, the heaviness of metal, and the melodic beat of classic rock, but the vocals are uniquely all theirs. Each band member is as passionate onstage as the next, and it is apparent they are there to fuck up your eardrums.

Northwest Royale were born in the year 2000—they have been coined a progressive heavy metal rock band, and I would have to agree. Just when you think metal rock can't take a different form, Northwest Royale continues to mix it up and rock us out with new lyrics, notes, riffs, and melodies, proving that, no, it hasn't all been done—not by a long shot. For all we know, rock is just getting started.

This Eugene-based band has endured many challenges such as lineup changes, illness, and heart-break but have come up victorious. Northwest Royale's infectious band members are Colton Williams (lead vocals/guitarist), Blake Owens (keyboards/vocals), Kenny Nestor, (bass/backing vocals), Beef Wellington (we don't ask his real name) on drums and Travis Zering on guitar. Those are the band members, but when are lucky enough to get to a Northwest Royale show, you become a part of this hypnotic crew.

Their new CD, Home is Where the Hate Is (released May 9th), has set the band on a three-week Northwest tour, and thankfully Seattle was one of their first stops. They begin their tour in Spokane, darting back and forth from Oregon, Montana, Wyoming, and California. Home is Where the Hate Is is the band's second full-length CD released in as little as two years. The first, The Nosebleed Section (2004), juiced with songs such as "I'm Drinking Again" and "Fortified," is one the best CDs in my vast CD collection...not a good album for my car, as I tend to have lead-foot anyway, but this album deludes me into believing my car defies the laws of gravity and can actually take flight.

Whatever your musical flavor—I guarantee you a blow job you will like Northwest Royale. In the two-plus years I've been enjoying this band and turning friends on, I have yet to find one person who isn't inspired to get up off their feet and rock out with their proverbial cock out.

You can catch tour dates, news and updates on the band at their myspace page: myspace.com/northwestroyale or their webpage: northwestroyale.com—sign up and join their mailing list you don't want to miss this band when they hit your town.

Did any of you watch any of the Winter Olympics this year? I didn't think so. I doubt you're counting the days until the 2008 Summer Games, either. For something that seems so rooted in national pride and features arguably the top athletes in the world, you would think more people would pay attention. Unfortunately for the television networks that broadcast the games, the folks hustling for donations to actually train the athletes and send them to the games—not to mention the rest of us—the Olympics are often more annoying than entertaining.

Crooked judges? Check. Irritating updates that preempt the shit you really want to watch? That, too. The whole curling thing? Who the fuck wants to watch a cross between slow-motion bowling and human Zamboni machines? And what kind of sick motherfuckers actually train for years with those brooms? Eesh!

By now I'll bet you're wondering, "What's this putz bitching about the Olympics for? I thought this was the stripper issue." Patience, Grasshopper.

Not too long ago I was a judge for one of the rounds in the Sunset Strip contest sponsored by this very magazine. Now I've seen my share of strippers. Hell—I've seen more chicks disrobe than most gynecologists. I grew up in New Jersey, where go-go bars seem as ubiquitous as coffee houses in Seattle. After moving to the Emerald City, I stopped going to strip clubs altogether. Why? A naked chick grinding all over me? Major turn-on. A naked chick grinding all over me after I paid a cover charge as well as the dancers, drank overpriced Cokes, while surrounded by a bunch of other guys? Not so much.

Still, I'd venture into clubs whenever I'd find myself back east, or in Portland, which should be renamed "Adult Disneyland." But nothing I'd seen in my years of...uhhh...research could prepare me for what I saw that night at the Fenix.

After viewing the first four contestants, I found myself wondering which of these lovely ladies would garner the highest scores. All were good and physically appealing. I would soon have my answer.

The fifth contestant, Pantera, took the stage sporting gorgeous blonde hair, tribal tattoos, and not much else. She then proceeded to do things on the pole that seemingly defied all laws of physics and gravity. We're talking Cirque du Soleil moves here! I sat transfixed, watching this incredible woman perform stunts that had an animal grace about them which no one else could approach. Her super-heroine looks, as well as the sheer physical strength involved in some of these maneuvers, left me confused as to whether I should go home and beat off or hire her as my bodyguard.

I decided that Pantera deserved better than to be referred to as just a stripper. Not that there's anything wrong with being a stripper. It's just that Pantera seemed to be so much more than your average pole-dancer. She seemed to be an athlete! I mused out loud to one of the other judges, "If pole-dancing was an Olympic sport, this chick would win the gold medal." And then I wondered...

Exactly why isn't pole-dancing an Olympic sport?

I mean, aside from the horizontal-versus-vertical thing, what difference is there between someone doing stunts on a balance beam and someone doing stunts on a pole? Both disciplines require its purveyors to wear skimpy outfits. And what about the parallel bars? Why is there no vertical parallel bars event? In regards to the dancing part, ice-dancing has been recognized as an Olympic sport for decades, as have many other gymnastic disciplines. Why not pole-dancing?

And lets face facts—the Olympics could use a little sexing-up. Unless you have a fetish for barely pubescent girls or beefy Eastern Bloc man-chicks that probably have bigger balls than Mr. Ed, your options for being turned on are fairly limited.

So what would it take to have pole-dancing recognized as an Olympic sport?

I decided to do a little research on this matter.

Where better to start my search than the official Olympics website at www.olympic.org? There I found the Olympic Charter—109 pages of bylaws and other information pertaining to all things Olympic. In Chapter 5, I found that...only sports widely practised by men in at least seventy-five countries and on four continents, and by women in at least forty countries and on three continents, may be included in the programme of the Games of the Olympiad.

OK—that's no problem. A Google search with the key words "stripper countries" revealed at least 68 countries on five continents with strip clubs.

Then I found that...A decision to include or exclude a discipline or event falls within the competence of the IOC Executive Board.

Oddly enough, I could find no mention of how one might petition the board. I would imagine it would take a sizeable lobbying effort from a professional organization. To this end, I propose the formation of The International Tribunal of Strippers, or TITS. This would be an allegiance of the top pole-dancers in the world, as well as a lobbying tool and administrative arm. TITS would set criteria for pole-dancing meets as well as judging guidelines. TITS would also encourage the further athletic development of pole-dancers. Each participating country would have its own chapter, or in the Olympic vernacular, International Federation (i.e., TITS USA) and would be responsible for forming squads of the best pole-dancers for international competition.

Obviously all nationality guidelines would be followed, as would anti-doping regulations.

I also found that...sports are admitted to the programme of the Olympic Games at least seven years before specific Olympic Games in respect of which no change shall thereafter be permitted.

Unfortunately a best-case scenario would find that the first appearance of pole-dancing in an Olympics would be in the 2016 Summer Games. That allows for plenty of time for the development of TITS, as well as time to focus a concerted international lobbying effort. Lots of corporate funding would be required. (I'm looking at you, Vivid Video!) At the same time, regional meets would serve to find the top pole-dancers as well as generate media attention. Eventually, televised meets would spread the popularity of this budding sport, as well as bring in much-needed revenue. Before you know it you might even see your favorite pole-dancer on a Wheaties box. Mmmmm—dare I dream?

I see no reason why this can't happen. Pole-dancing is at least as valid a discipline as figure-skating, and way hotter. Let's get this ball rolling. Tell strippers. Tell strip-club owners. Tell your friends. Tell sports fans. Tell the press. Tell your congressman. Tell them all that you want TITS and you want TITS now!

SHARKEE'S

AUSTRALIA'S HOTTEST NEW STRIP CLUB!
ALL OF THE DANCERS ARE VICTIMS OF SHARK BITES!

THE GREAT BARRIER REEF IS SAID TO BE SO BIG, you can see it from outer space. Running along Australia's northeastern coast, it teems and burbles and fairly belches forth with a swirlingly pristine psychedelic explosion of aquatic life. But as with all things in this miserable existence, there is a dark and horrifying side. Happy snorkelers are caught unawares, with tragic and often fatal results. As they blissfully flap their rubber feet around in clear sunlit water, they forget that somewhere amid the far-off greenish murk, way out yonder beyond the pretty pink coral and smiling yellow fish, there lurk big sharks with large teeth and bad attitudes and shady intentions. Ill-willed sharks. Sharks who don't like people so much.

The Reef, world-renowned for its mean-spirited killer sharks, is also referred to as the "World's Largest Living Organism," so it makes sense that the sandy Australian coast nearby would host the "World's Largest Strip Club Catering to Men With a Shark-Bite Fetish"...perhaps the ONLY strip club catering to this fetish...but definitely "the best!"

Sharkee's Gentlemen's Club, founded in 2002, sits nestled near orange-colored beaches and windswept blue waters about 10 kilometers south of the city of Cairns, celebrated worldwide for inventing the Cairn Terrier.

The proud and beautiful girls who dance at Sharkee's come in all sizes, shapes, and most races (there's even an aborigine who comes in on weekends), but they all sip from the bitter cup of a tragic legacy which they've worked to their advantage—they've all been attacked by sharks and have survived. Some of the girls were lucky enough to escape with severe scars and mild disfigurement. Others suffered amputation of one or more limbs. And the more severely they're maimed, the more the men seem to like it.

Lavishly decked-out in maritime themes and sea-tragedy memorabilia, Sharkee's boasts a swank menu featuring grilled shark steaks and a drink called "The Hammerhead." They even host an Annual Naked Boat Party and Underwater Dive which heads out into the thick of the Reef. Every year, the Party's highlight is when a naked menstruating stripper is lowered into the shark cage.

Sharkee's is owned by Salty Jack Cheddars, an ex-wombat poacher and National Boomerang Champion. As a legless stripper-pole spins atop a small brass pole which juts up from the stage floor and is mounted deep into her vagina, Cheddars throws a shrimp on the barbie and says his dream is to install a live shark tank onstage. Although he's faced scathing criticism from numerous Aussie women's groups, Cheddars says he's "fair" to the girls and will not employ any dancers with fresh bite wounds.

"Jack's fair to the girls," says a curvaceously lovely young thing who refers to herself as The

Guppy and says she's been dancing at Sharkee's since its inception. The Guppy, 27, says she was savagely attacked by a bull shark during a class trip eleven years ago, causing severe scarring on one leg. "Jack's not the problem," The Guppy tells me, "it's the other girls and the stupid customers." She says there is a deep rift between the girls who merely have scars and those whose injuries required amputation, mainly because the amputees garner consistently larger tips. "It hurt a LOT when that shark bit me," The Guppy says, "but not as bad as when guys sit at the rack and don't tip me."

"You wouldn't believe how many guys enjoy looking at naked women who've been bitten by sharks," says Dingo Bill, a perpetually drunk and sunburned Sharkee's regular who keeps one eye on me and one on the quadriplegic dancer who crawls across the stage like an inchworm. "A shark bite is the ultimate body modification. I can achieve an erection merely at the thought of a shark biting a woman. There—I just did."
